Soaring temperatures may give power stocks a boost

NIKITA VASHISHT
New Delhi, 26 April

As temperatures soar across the country, analysts see power demand hitting record highs this year. This may present an opportunity to add related stocks on dips as higher demand boosts earnings visibility, they said.

On April 18, India's electricity demand touched a new high of 216 gigawatts (Gw). On the consumption front, India clocked a peak energy demand of 4,836 million units that day. This is an increase of eight per cent over the same day last year.

In just the first fortnight of April, energy demand has risen by 23 per cent, indicating a sharp rise in use of cooling equipment.

"Summer heat will only get worse, going forward. Since economic activity continues to remain strong, power demand for commercial and industrial users will also remain high. Therefore, power demand will remain robust," said VK Vijayakumar, chief investment strategist, Geojit Financial Services.

According to rating agency ICRA, the full-year power demand growth for FY23 is expected to remain at 9.5-10 per cent. Demand growth is estimated to be in the range of 5.5-6 per cent for FY24, due to the high base of the previous year.

Peak power demand has been pegged at 225-230 Gw for FY24, with expectations of a sharp rise in demand during the summer season.

Given the spurt in power demand, Vijayakumar said shares of Tata Power and NTPC stand to benefit. Moreover, investors could use weakness in the market to buy fundamentally-strong stocks, he added.

Echoing similar views, Vinit Bolinjar, head of research at Ventura Securities, said that growth outlook for NTPC remains robust. This comes as the power ministry has asked the company to operate all the gas-based power plants to full capacity. This will help generate 5,000 megawatts (Mw) of additional power during the summer season.

"In Q4 of FY23, NTPC's revenue is expected to grow by 21.3 per cent year-on-year (YoY) to ₹45,000 crore. This is owing to increased growth in regulated equity, higher generation from gas-based power plants and commissioning of renewable projects. Ebitda (earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortisation) and net profit are likely to grow by 13.7 per cent to ₹13,000 crore, and 5.8 per cent to ₹5,500 crore, respectively," he said.

Bolinjar said NTPC may report revenue of ₹1.76 trillion in FY23 (up 33.4 per cent YoY). Ebitda and net profit are seen at ₹46,982 crore (up 16.4 per cent), and ₹17,750 crore (up 5 per cent), respectively.

Analysts said power transmission companies may not get any direct benefit from the peak power demand. This is because their revenues are based on a fixed annuity model. But power distribution companies such as Torrent Power and CESC are expected to reap benefits of increasing power consumption.

On the bourses, shares of related companies traded mixed over the past two months. While shares of Reliance Infrastructure, JSW Energy, Power Grid and Torrent Power have surged in the range of 9-21 per cent, shares of NTPC, Tata Power, CESC, and BF Utilities slipped up to 6 per cent. By comparison, the BSE Sensex is up 1.4 per cent during the period, while the BSE500 index added 2.5 per cent, ACE Equity data shows.

Analysts say the markets are not yet pricing in the positives that the companies would accrue due to higher demand.

"We are positive on the sector, as power firms under our coverage are likely to deliver better performance in Q4. Besides, the demand will likely surge in the next 6-7 months, driving further gains," said analysts at Elara Capital.

They said the regulatory support for companies is very constructive across India, thus providing a multi-year smooth runway to growth. This will boost earnings-per-share outlook over FY23-FY25.

Lock in returns for long term with non-par plans

Avoid these schemes if you require liquidity in the short run

SANJAY KUMAR SINGH & BINDISHA SARANG

Debt mutual funds lost to the indexation benefit on long-term capital gains from the start of this financial year (2023-24). Many investors are gravitating towards non-participating (non-par) plans of insurance companies in the wake of this change in tax rules.

How do these plans work?

Traditional (non-unit linked) plans are of two types: participating (par) and non-par. Returns of par plans are not guaranteed as they depend on insurer performance.

"Non-par plans don't participate in the insurer's profits. Their returns are also not market-linked. Hence, they can offer guaranteed returns," says Deepesh Raghaw, Securities and Exchange Board of India-registered investment advisor and founder, PersonalFinancePlan.

Non-par plans typically have a premium payment term of five to 10 years. After that, the investor could get a lump-sum payout (usually after a gap of one or two years).

Alternatively, he/she can opt for an income stream that can last for as long as 30-40 years.

Guaranteed returns

The returns from these plans are guaranteed by the insurer. At the time of purchasing the plan, the investor gets information on the cash flows of these plans and can calculate their internal rate of return (IRR).

"After investing, the investor need not worry about interest rates. Even if they plummet, the insurer will pay the guaranteed rate of return," says Raghaw.

Vivek Jain, head-investments, PolicyBazaar, informs that many of these plans are currently offering returns between 6 per cent and 7.5 per cent.

"If the cumulative premium paid for these plans is up to ₹5 lakh, the payout on maturity is also tax-free.

PROS AND CONS OF NON-PAR PLANS

- Rate of return is guaranteed; investors can lock in the rate of return for the long term
- In the current high-interest rate environment, many of these plans offer reasonably attractive returns ranging between 6% and 7.5%
- If the premium doesn't (cumulatively) exceed ₹5 lakh, the maturity amount is tax-free
- However, these plans have low liquidity and early exit from them is penalised
- Most retail investors will also not be able to calculate the internal rate of return of these plans

These plans are also eligible for Section 80C deduction. The regular premium plans offer 10x life cover," says Jain.

Early exits are costly

If an investor has paid less than two premiums and doesn't wish to pay any further, he/she will end up with zero surrender value.

"If you decide to exit the plan in the initial years, you will not get the entire premium back," says Raghaw.

After paying two premiums, you can make the policy 'paid-up' but the benefits get reduced proportionately.

Says Pankaj Mathpal, managing director, Optima Money Managers: "In a non-par plan, you don't get any bonus or dividends, as these plans don't participate in the profits of the insurer."

The tax benefits of these plans have been curtailed.

Says Vivek Jalan, partner, Tax Connect Advisory Services: "Effective April 1, 2023, the tax exemption has been withdrawn from high-value traditional life policies. Now, any payout, including non-death maturity benefit, surrender payout, etc of these policies with an annual aggregate premium of over ₹5 lakh, will be taxable."

Breaking up the investment into smaller policies will not do since the cumulative premium is considered for assessing whether the ₹5 lakh threshold has been breached.

Run these checks

The IRR can vary from one plan to another.

"Select a plan that offers an IRR of 7 per cent or above," says Jain.

Retail investors should seek expert help in calculating the plan's IRR. Between lump-sum and income payout, choose the option that suits your needs. Retirees, for instance, may opt for the income option to meet their cash flow requirements.

Who should opt for them?

People in their fifties who want to create a long-term, tax-free income stream after retirement can use these plans. The elderly who want to create a tax-free income stream for their children may also go for them.

Younger investors who have a small corpus, and may not be comfortable locking in their money for the long term, should avoid them. Such investors should stick to term plans.

Says Deepali Sen, founder and partner, Srujan Financial Advisers: "For a low premium, you can get a huge coverage in a term cover that can provide financial protection to your dependants."

Those in the accumulation phase and having a horizon of more than seven years may opt for equity funds.

The returns offered by non-par plans are correlated with the interest rates prevailing within the economy. Since interest rates are on the higher side, these plans offer reasonably attractive returns.

"Investors who wish to lock into these rates should act now before interest rates start moving southwards," says Jain.
